REFLECTIVE GEAR FOR YOUR HORSE Stirrups/Tail bags/helmets

Daylight is not coming as early as it did a few months ago, so for those of us that right sometimes at night, you need some reflective gear for your horse and yourself.

I have tried a lot of styles and have found some that really can be seen from a distance.

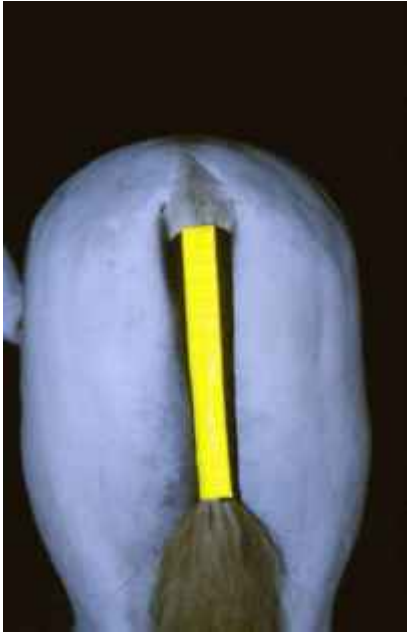

Neoprene leg reflectors shine when a light hits them. These can be seen for at least $\frac{1}{4}$ mile. I also use one on each arm as well as on the legs of my horse. They can be used on stirrup leathers or anywhere on the saddle they will be seen.

Then there is the helmet reflector...yellow or green, washable and fits all helmets

Then there is the tail bag...yellow and long, can be seen from the back very well. It stays on well, neoprene bag with velcro closure.
