

JULY 2006 PRODUCT REVIEW MOSQUITO GUARD

For years, I have been trying to find a really good spray to keep mosquitoes and flying insects off me while riding and playing at the barn or anywhere outside in the summer.

I got some Mosquito Guard recently and it sat at the barn a few days, I just forgot to use it figuring it was just another bug spray. Then one day, the flies were really bad after a rain storm, so I got the Mosquito Guard out and sprayed some on me. It was amazing...nothing was lighting on me, nothing. They were all buzzing around me, but nothing landed.

I could not believe that anything would actually keep the flies off me. So, then, I was watching my horses stomp and swish while eating and the flies congregating around their legs. I decided to spray some on one horse and waited to see what happened....the flies did not land on her legs and the stomping stopped. They were still congregating on her back, but not on her legs, where I sprayed. I was sold. I stayed outside about an hour and never got bitten by anything.

I now take it riding with me and keep my-self sprayed. It is the only spray I have found that actually works. Just a few sprays is all you need. It smells good to humans, no chemicals at all, just natural ingredients, a natural herb called Geraniol among some other natural effective ingredients. Click on Image to buy.
